

Overview of the Senkaku Islands

うおつりしま 魚釣島 UOTSURISHIMA

Area	3.81 km ²
Location	Latitude 25°44' N, Longitude 123°28' E 170 km northwest of Ishigaki Island (westernmost point of the Senkaku Islands) 2392, Tonoshiro-Senkaku, Ishigaki City, Okinawa Prefecture
Altitude	362 m
Summary	In the archipelago, this is the largest island with a long oval shape extending east to west. The north side of the island has relatively gentle slopes from the coast to the summit of the mountain, while the south side is formed of steep cliffs.

Geospatial Information Authority of Japan, 2003/1/12

Photo courtesy of Yoshihiko Yamada

Photo courtesy of Yoshihiko Yamada

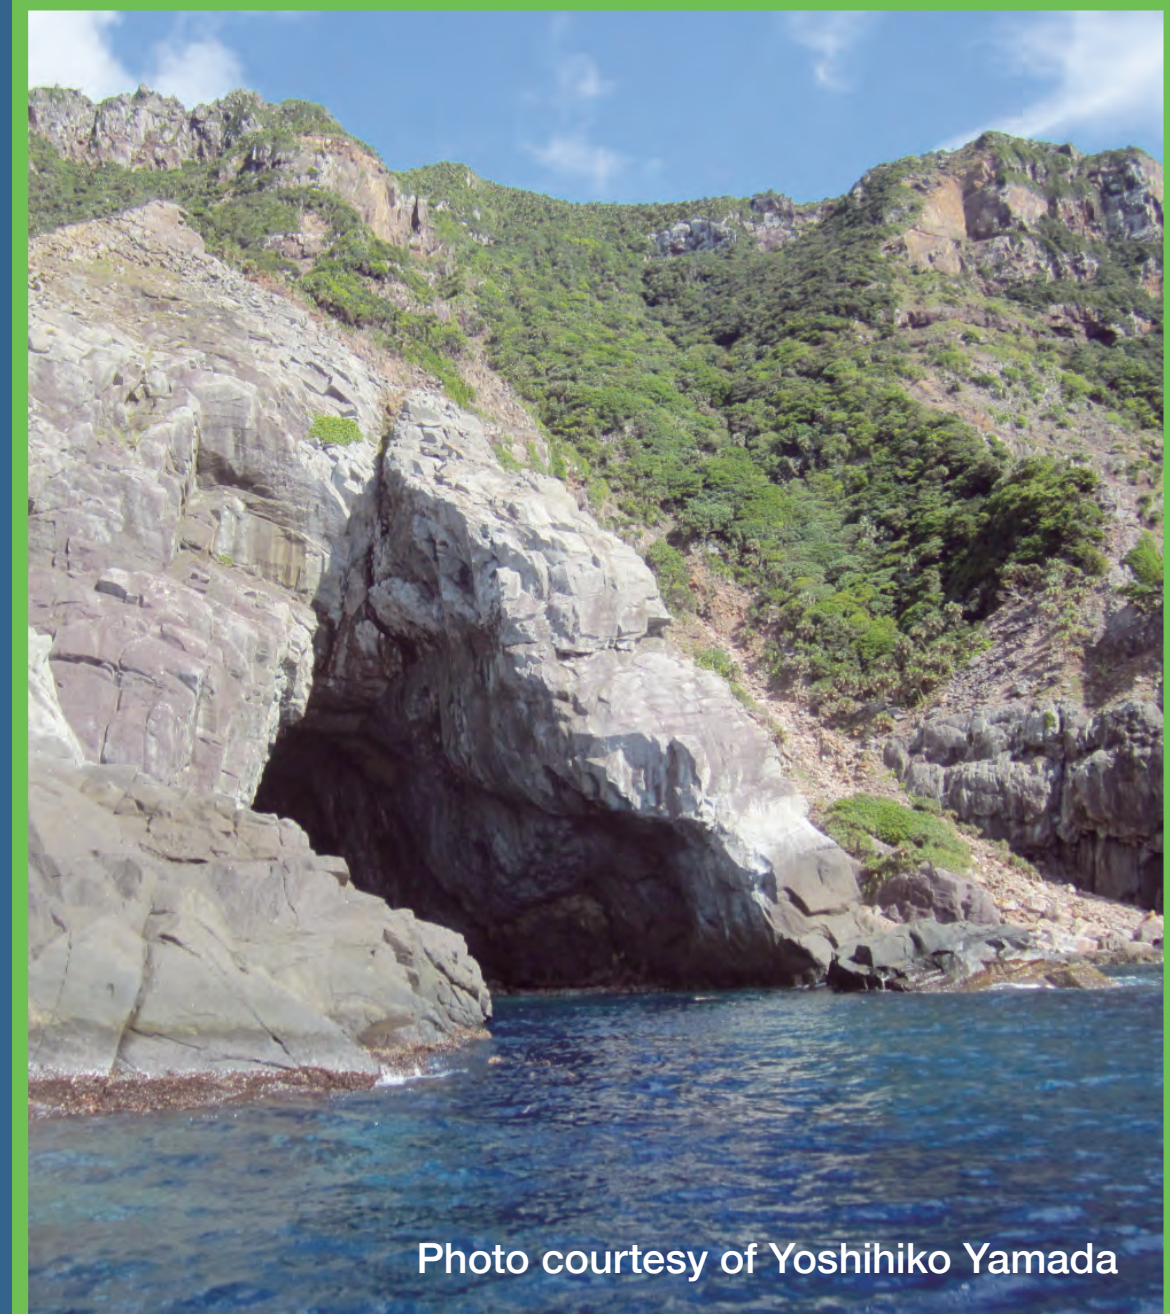

Photo courtesy of Yoshihiko Yamada

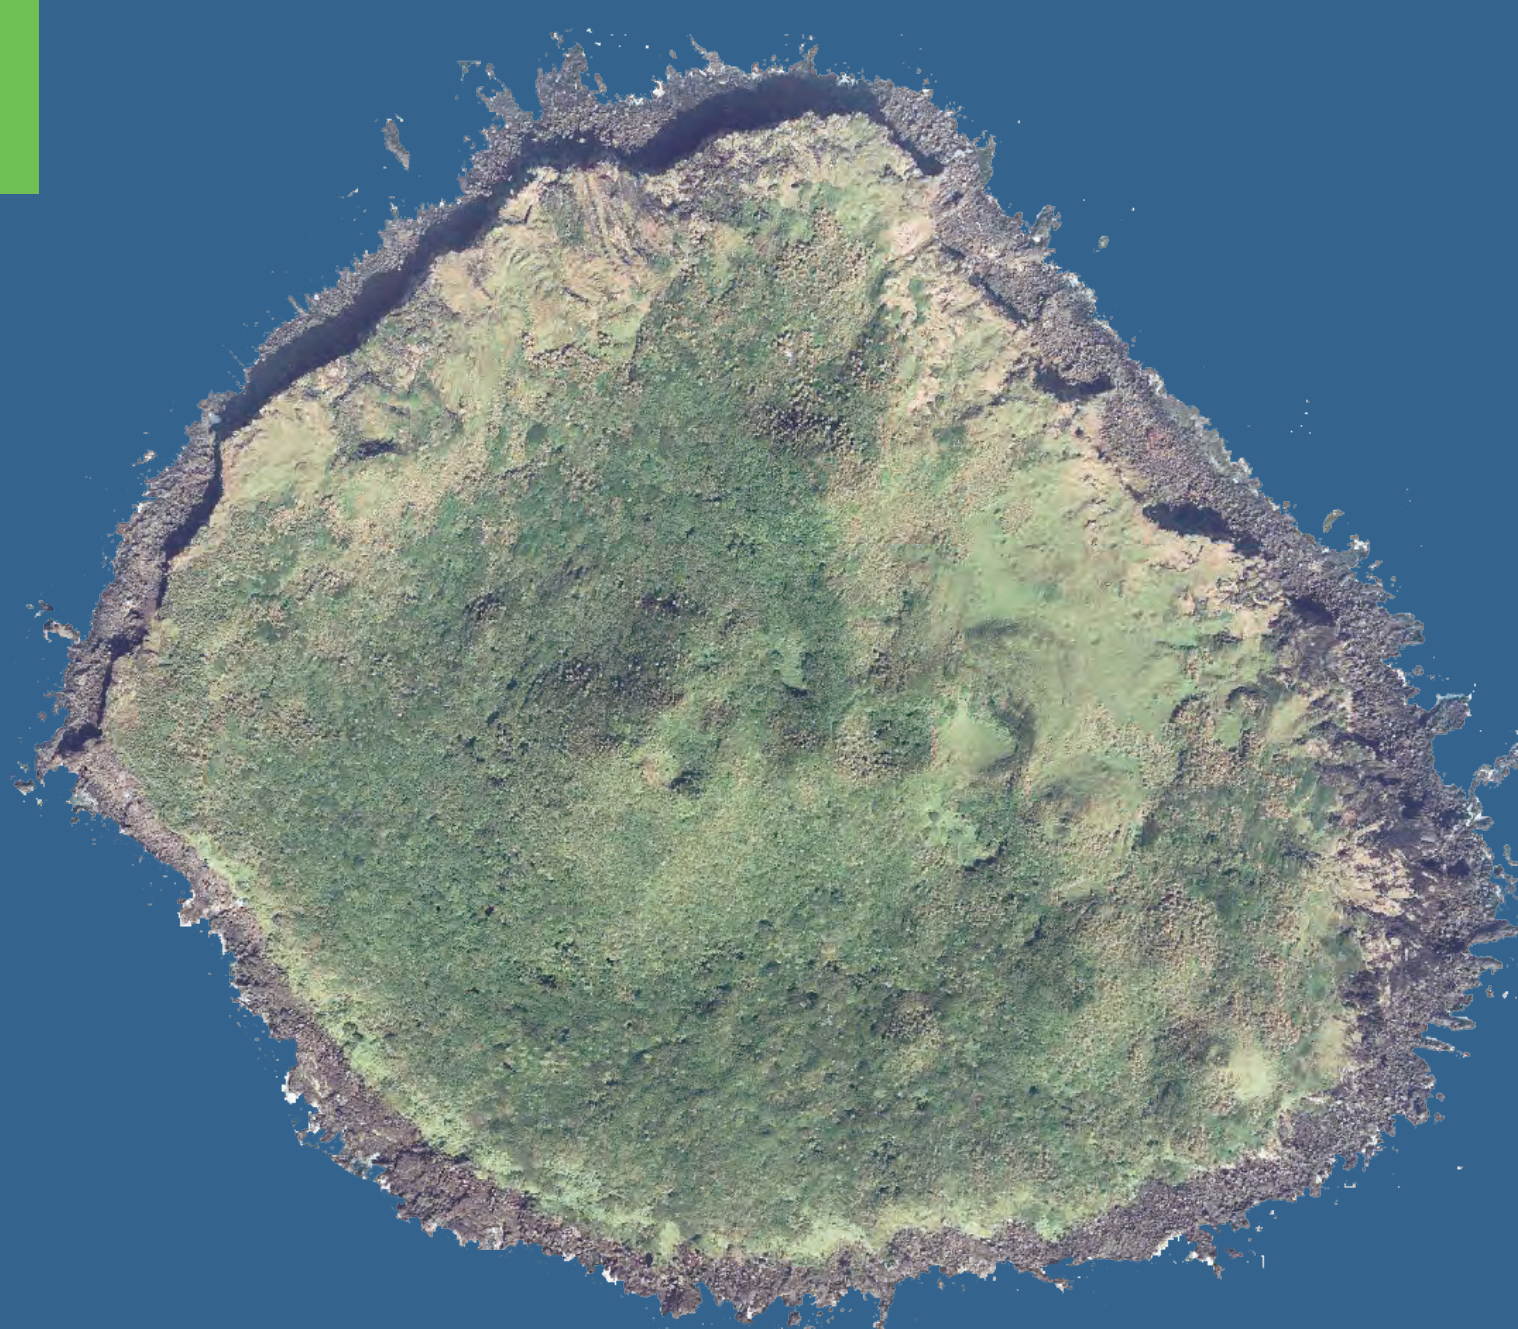

Photo courtesy of Tokyo Metropolitan Government

Photo courtesy of Tokyo Metropolitan Government

くばしま 久場島 KUBASHIMA

Geospatial Information Authority of Japan, 1978/11/30

Approx. 1,250 m

Area	0.91 km ²
Location	Latitude 25°55' N, Longitude 123°40' E 182 km north of Ishigaki Island, 22 km northeast of Uotsuri Island 2393, Tonoshiro-Senkaku, Ishigaki City, Okinawa Prefecture
Altitude	117 m
Summary	Also known as “Kobi-sho,” it is an almost circular volcanic island with several craters in the center. The terrain gently slopes downward from the island's central part to the seashore, whereas the coast is surrounded by precipice rocks.

* Latitude and longitude, altitude, and area data from the Geospatial Information Authority of Japan.